Description

A fine Sheraton waterfall mahogany bookcase on tapering legs with provenance. This wonderful mahogany waterfall bookcase dating to circa 1795-1805 is in excellent condition with a wonderful color and patina. The mahogany timber used is of the finest cuts probably Cuban mahogany with the top reeded edge graduating down in a waterfall style hence where the name comes from. The single cockbeaded drawer having later brass ring pull handles and original twin pin lock above two mahogany doors with later brass grills raised on slender ring turned feet with original brass castors. This is a fine quality piece of furniture which was owned by "Lady Edward Hay" of Hyde Park Garden W2 London and we have been able to obtain the original receipt from when she purchased the bookcase from the London antiques firm 'Owen Evan-Thomas Ltd of 20 Dover Street' dated 28th February 1937. In excellent original condition having been wax polished this lovely quality piece of furniture not only comes with its own bit of history but also has the most wonderful patina and colour.
