SoldItem Reference: SA382328*Date of manufacture: 1850

Description

Here we have a superb massive size early to mid 19th century Scottish fern engraved over-sized "wine" glass. This beautiful glass was probably originally used to hold ice on the dining table as it is far too big to be a drinking glass, you could get 2 bottles of red wine in it !! It has a shaped rim to the top with flat round foot to the base with short hollow stem. The markings and bubbles (imperfections) to the glass are lovely. One of the nicest fern engraved glasses I've ever seen. SIZE; 7 1/2" diameter. 9 1/2" high
