Description

This is a beautiful antique Spanish silver chamber stick with seated maiden with crossed legs. She sits with her hands above her head and it looks as if she is holding the scone on her head. It has the Spanish silver hallmark of a pentagram which signifies silver quality of at least 915 parts per 1000. It weighs 143 grams and has its original snuffer and is particularly attractive and unusual. It is difficult to date as Spanish hallmarks don't include date letters, but a fair estimate would be late 19th to early 20th century between 1880 and 1910. It measures 4 3/4" (12 cms) tall x 4 1/4" (11 cms) across the circular base. The condition is excellent with no damage or repairs, and it has a highly decorative handle and a very pretty mount for the snuffer. Free worldwide fully insured shipping included in the price.
