Description

Dating from around 1910-1940 this pair of lamps were once candlesticks converted to electricity a long time ago and we have since had them rewired and fitted with new candle tubes. They have three elongated and decorative fish (exaggerated form of Dolphin?) around the sides of the ornate triangular base. The lights measure 32cm from the top of the candle tube to the base, and the base is approximately 19cm in diameter. They have been wired to take a small bayonet cap lightbulb, and fitted with on/off switches. They can be used with shades or with little candle bulbs, (the shades in the photos are not included in the price). The lamps are in very good condition with no signs of repair or damage anywhere. Postage and packing within the UK mainland is included in the price, and for delivery to remote parts of the UK or elsewhere please contact us at lancasterantiques@ymail.com for a quote.
