SoldItem Reference: SA384937*Date of manufacture: 1900

Description

A magnificent quality mahogany and ormolu mounted French Vitrine. Having an inset marble top above the ormolu mounted frieze, with a finely cast central mask, flanked by trailing floral ribbon and harebell mounts which are repeated on the serpentine ends. The canted corners with fine figural mounts above trailing laurel leaves. The central bow front glazed door opening to reveal plate glass shelves, a mirrored back and silk lined base, again with a stunning finely cast ormolu plaque depicting a classical maiden. The glazed ends of serpentine outline again with finely cast ormolu beading and supported on elegant French cabriole supports with ormolu sabots. French circa 1880-1900. The quality of this cabinet would indicate it was made by one of the top Parisian cabinet makers of the time such as Paul Sormani or Francois Linke. Dimensions: 61" high x 30" wide x 17" deep Condition: This vitrine is in stunning condition, it has been re-polished in our workshops and all the ormolu has been removed and re-gilded.
