Description

A very good early 19th century writing table in solid mahogany. Of good solid construction, with a nice colour and patina. The top is fitted with a nice green leather writing surface, decorated with gilt tooling. There is an arrangement of one long and 3 short drawers, giving ample storage space. The whole table stands on elegant turned legs which terminate on good quality brass and ceramic castors. The rear of the table is finished with "faux" drawer fronts meaning that this desk could stand freely in the center of a room if desired. This practical and desirable table has recently been sympathetically refinished to a high standard and is now offered for sale in excellent condition, ready to go straight into the home or office.
