Description

Regency mahogany desk chair Here we have this Regency mahogany open arm desk chair, with an exceptional leather buttoned seat. This particular chair is made in a high grade mahogany and would have been selected by the chairmaker for its colour and denseness of timber. The desk chair is constructed and carved to a high standard. The curved bar back has a lovely curl to the timber and a lovely small scroll carving to the edge that gives it just that extra bit of style. There is a straight bar across the middle of the back that has well carved reeding in the centre. The open arms again have reeds and end in a scroll grip, the seat of the chair in a lovely warm tan leather with a 5 button design. The chair then stands on superb turned front legs that again have reeds carved into them.
