Description

Circa 1910-1940, this is a good quality five tier brass and glass ceiling light, with the original ceiling hook available. At the top of the brass frame are nine decorative loops holding a large glass drop and between the loops are swags of rounded glass beads. See photo 1 for details. The light measures approximately 38cm at the widest part across the top, and about 39/40cm in length. It is in very good condition and all the drops are complete. Postage and packing within the UK mainland only is included in the price but we are happy to give quotes for delivery to outside areas.
