Description

Circa 1910-1940, a six light Marie Therese chandelier with long smooth amber coloured drops between the original clear glass drops around the arms. The amber drops are possibly slightly later than the clear drops, and could have been added to suit a colour scheme. They can easily be unhooked and the light left 'as is' or they could be replaced with long clear drops. The chandelier measures approximately 67cm in length from the glass ceiling fixing, and approximately 51cm in width and it is in good condition. The photographs do not do it justice. We have photographed it lit although it was rewired by the previous owner and would need to be PAT tested before installation. We no longer sell through a retail outlet and if the buyer could arrange collection from us either in person or using a courier, we will pack it for transit and offer 20% discount on the price.
