Description

An American Emeralite Brass Bankers Lamp, the overlaid glass, shade is green on the outside and white on the inside giving a lovely glow - apparently to aid concentration! The brass frame is articulated at the top to adjust the angle of the shade and at the bottom of the support above the square shaped base which is weighted internally. The back of the shade has the remains of it's 'Emeralite' paper label. This design of lamps dates between 1916 and 1930. In full working condition, retaining it's original bulb holder, on/off chain and fittings but has been re-wired with cloth covered cable, a plug and PAT tested to conform to UK safety standards. 35cm high, the base is 17cm square
