Description

A very good quality Regency mahogany cabinet / chiffonier having a wonderful untouched original colour and patination. Quite unusual in design this very smart and stylish Regency cabinet has a solid mahogany shaped top with raised upstand above four drawers, two being central with two almost secret shaped drawers flanking to each side. The bow fronted section containing two ebony banded veneer panelled doors which open to reveal shelved storage are flanked by two reeded panels with the base having a moulded edge raised on shaped tapering front feet. The doors having a central right hand lock with the left hand door having a very clever top locking catch which when fully closed locks the drawer above, meaning that when the right hand door is locked it cleverly locks the drawers above, a very rare locking system. This really is a cabinet for an antique collector due to its rarity and fabulous untouched colour and patina. We have purely just given this cabinet / chiffonier a light wax as it is in lovely original condition which is sure to attract anyone with a keen eye.
