Date of manufacture: 1800

Description

Pretty late 18th century Derby perfume dropper or rose water sprinkler. Dainty shaped spout and handle, embellished with gilding, the sides and lid applied with beautifully formed leaves and apple blossom flowers. Puce mark for 1782-1800. It measures 4 1/2" high, 4 1/2" spout to handle and 4". Condition is very good; just a small chip to the inner flange of the lid and another to a flower petal and a couple of small losses to the smaller leaf stems. Surface wear is light, minimal rubbing to the gilding.
