Description

Good quality Edwardian era wall mounted dinner gong in the form of a horse's head c.1910. 10" diameter circular gong tone hung from a well modelled horse's head, crisply cast in brass and mounted on the original mahogany shield. Together with a period clapper held behind the gong on its own original bracket. The edge of the gong is slightly mis-shapen at the top, however this doesn't seem to have effected its tone which is very good. Otherwise excellent condition. Dimensions: width 10", depth 7½", height 22".
