Description

Edwardian mahogany bow-end display cabinet Here we have this fantastic bow-end display cabinet. This cabinet would have been made by one of the top cabinet makers of the day and retailed in a superior store. The cabinet comprises a bow glass door to each end and a further bow central door enclosing glass shelves. Below the display area are 3 cupboards. We have re-lined the cabinet and also fitted LED lighting to make the display even better. If the Edwardian cabinetmakers had access to LED lighting in the day they would undoubtedly fitted them in their cabinets. This wonderful piece of Edwardian furniture stands on 6 carved cabriole legs that end in claw and ball feet. The apron is beautifully carved with shells and foliage. PRICE MATCHING Antiques are quite unique as it is impossible to price match.
