Description

Circa 1880, this all original Victorian stained glass lantern is set in solid brass surrounds with little brass ball finials at the top and bottom of each corner. The panes of glass are all set in the original lead fixings. The pattern is the same on all sides, and is the original glass. One green pane in the bottom corner has a thin crack in it, but it has been fixed and secured by our professional glass restorer. We did not want to replace the piece of glass with a modern piece because it would not match. The price reflects this. The lantern measures 36cm in total in length; the panels are 30cm x 23.5cm. It comes with some original fitted dark chain and we can supply a dark brass ceiling hook if required, and possibly some longer chain to match. The light can be viewed and collected from us in Surrey by appointment as we no longer sell through a retail outlet. If the buyer can arrange collection from us, we will pack it safely ready for collection and offer a discount. If the delivery address is within each reach of the Surrey section of the M25 we may be able to deliver ourselves, otherwise please contact us for delivery elsewhere. If it is to go abroad, we wou...
