Description

This pair of attractive 19th century terracotta urns are in excellent condition - rare survivors, especially when considering their function and age, (circa 1880). They are stamped in several places by the famous makers of domestic and industrial stoneware, Doulton of Lambeth, and have an attractive and decorative weathered surface. Each urn lifts off its stand. Carriage is nearly always carried out personally within London, Surrey and Sussex - Delivery is free for clients within mainland Britain - Professional, competitive and trusted courier and shipping companies are engaged for the remainder of our customers. We do strive to accurately describe and illustrate our stock within the 'Selling Antiques' website. However we do understand that it is not always possible to judge from photographs how an item will look within the home or garden. For this reason if notified within seven days from date of delivery we offer a full refund (less any agreed carriage costs) once the item has been returned.
