Description

This unusual antique pine glazed bookcase is in amazing condition for its age. The beautiful carvings are typical of this time. This piece has so much storage, and in our opinion would suit many different rooms in our modern homes. It could be used as a display cabinet in your dining room or kitchen, or kept as a bookcase in your office or living room, either way it would make a stunning addition to any room. The top section has three glazed doors that open to adjustable shelves. The shelves sit on the original adjustable bearers. The base consists of two small drawers and two small cupboards. Recently stripped of its original paint it is now in the bare wood ready for waxing. The price includes our professional waxing service. Height 77.5", width 51", depth 21"
