Description

An impressive mahogany sideboard from the George IV period. Of excellent construction in cuban mahogany with stunning flame mahogany veneers. The sideboard is decorated with rosewood banding throughout, stringing inlay and inlaid floral panels flanking the central drawers. The top has a stepped up back fitted with its original brass gallery. The top has four inlaid roundels which are inset with burr yew veneers, a really unusual feature. This sideboard offers good storage capacity from a pair of central drawers flanked by a cupboard to the left and a wine cellarette to the right. The whole sideboard stands on bold turned and reeded legs which are sturdy and strong. It has a wonderful rich colour and patina and is offered for sale in excellent condition. It is a very impressive sideboard of generous proportions and real quality. Dimensions: Width 192cms Depth 75cms Height 133cms
