Description

A very rare copper jug advertising The Horlicks Drinks Company. This tall, elegant jug is presented in excellent condition. There is a back handle, folding carrying handle and well formed pouring spout. The enamel signage in blue lettering on a cream background is typical of the advertising style in the early 20th Century. We believe that this jug was not generally available, but made especially for the opening of the new Horlicks factory in Slough in 1906, for promotional and decorative purposes. This is a really delightful piece, perfect for collector or decorator alike. c.1906 Height to handle: 20" (51cm) height with handle down: 14.75" (37.5cm) Overall width: 11.5" (29cm) Width of base: 7" (18cm)
