Description

19thc. mahogany housekeepers cupboard Here we have this high quality housekeepers cupboard. This could have been made in the Gillow workshop but there is no makers stamp. The timber is the same quality and type that Gillows used and if not from there it would have been one of their competitors in the day. The cupboard has a stack of drawers running down each side of the double door linen press. This is a superb quality item of 19thc furniture that makes wonderful useful storage. PRICE MATCHING Antiques are quite unique as it is impossible to price match.
