Description

A fine quality inlaid mahogany cylinder bureau, or desk, of generous proportions. Maple and Co made this bureau in several sizes, this is the largest model. It is made from the highest grade of solid mahogany timber, even the drawer linings are characteristically mahogany. The whole desk is designed in the Sheraton style and is decorated with inlay throughout with restraint. The cylinder fall is fitted with stunning flame mahogany veneers, which are also to be found to the top of the desk. The cylinder fall is counter-weighted and easily opens by pulling out the writing surface. The interior of the bureau is also in solid mahogany with a series of pigeon holes, small drawers, black leather writing surface and the original ink wells are also present. Above the cylinder there is an arrangement of 3 drawers. Below the cylinder is an arrangement of one long central drawer flanked by two pairs of shorter drawers. All drawers are fitted with their original brass handles (the exact type particular to Maple and Co). This bureau is finished to all four sides with equal quality and the inlay also continues throughout. So it could stand well in the center of a room or against a wall.
