Description

A charming late 19th Century lead garden figure of a nymph, this is a very well cast figure of good quality. Standing on an attractive domed and octagonal base, this is a really lovely garden figure. The condition is very good, there is some evidence of earlier paint to the back of the figure, but this only adds to the overall decorative appeal. This beautiful antique figure would work equally well incorporated into an interior scheme, and would look lovely standing in a hall or other interior space as a striking design statement. c.1890 Height: 22" (56cm) Overall width: 8" (20.5cm) Width of base: 6.5" (16.5cm)
