Description

A charming antique Victorian hall table with chess board inlaid top. The top is a nice warm colour and features crossbanding to the edges. It has attractive bobbin turned supports with turned stretchers. It is in good condition for its age and is a strong sturdy piece. The top has faded slightly over the years but still has a nice patina. There are some slight knocks and chips around the edges of the table but no major damage. The legs are strong and firm and overall it is a good honest piece. The best description comes from the photos so please look at them all carefully and if you have any questions please ask.
