Description

This rare and unusual Victorian SILVER & GLASS INKWELL was made by John Grinsell & Sons in 1895. Of circular form with hinged lid this lovely inkwell has a beautiful gadrooned lower half. Free from any added engravings, monograms or initials, it is complete with the original glass inkwell. In excellent condition, free from any nasty knocks or dents and showing very little sign of age despite being over 120 years old, this rare piece would make a lovely gift, would look terrific on any desk or would add to any collection.  Condition  Used / Excellent There is no damage and there are no repairs. Small 'nibble' to the top of the glass inkwell - nothing much and can't be seen when assembled.
