Description

In lovely engine turned gilt lacquered brass and standing on a mahogany base these scales were manufactured by "Doyle & Son Borough London", they come with a full set of, what appear to be original, metric weights. 760mm high, 610mm wide and 290mm deep. Circa 1910. John Doyle was a London scalemaker, his firm being known as Doyle & Son from about 1865 onwards. In 1886, the firm took over the business of Nicholl and Fowler, and was still in business in 1961. Probably taken over by Avery's.
