Description

This mahogany arm chair / elbow chair has good colour and is most useable. Cleaned but not all restored it has a worn leather seat, most fashionable at the moment. This is sagging but we could get this restuffed or reupholstered for around £45 plus vat if required. There is a second chair that can go with this example, its twin. However the second chair has been damaged in the past. It is quite solid currently but would not stand being rocked on we suspect, however no chair like this should be rocked on. They both should last another 100 years or so with normal use. We would comment however we are selling one chair for a modest £160 and the second chair if wanted is free. The chairs are good looking with the fretted splat and have good shaped arms, there are stretchers between the legs for additional support.
