Description

George Cattermole, 1800 - 1868 A Cavalier reading a dispatch in a Long Gallery, decorated with Armour and Paintings A Long Gallery, decorated with Armour and Painting pencil and watercolour 11 x 16 in. (28 x 41 cm.) Cattermole, George (1800-1868), watercolour painter and illustrator, was born on 10 August 1800 in the village of Dickleburgh, near Diss, Norfolk, the youngest of seven children, six sons and a daughter, of parents whose names are not known. Cattermole's mother died when he was very young and he was raised and taught by his father, a man of independent means. He was a great reader, familiar with Shakespeare and Scott from an early age. Cattermole knew history well, especially English history, was a good Latin scholar, and wrote in a correct and classic style. He may have served as an assistant at his father's school in Norfolk before his departure for London, where he arrived by 1819. Soon thereafter, Cattermole began work as an architectural draughtsman for the antiquary John Britton and developed his skills of observation and accuracy, training congenial with his antiquarian and artistic interests. With one of his brothers, the Revd Richard Cattermole (17...
