Description

This late Victorian brass Corinthian column lamp was probably once the base for an oil lamp. It is taller than most of this type of lamp and measures 50cm from the top of the column to the base; including the lamp holder the height is 59cm, with a 17cm square stepped base. It is in excellent condition, with no signs of damage, and our electrician has just completely rewired it to UK specifications using dark flex cable and fitted with an on-line switch. This is one of the finest Corinthian column lamps we have had in stock for a while. The price includes postage and packing for the UK mainland only, and for outside areas or abroad, please contact us for a quote for delivery.
