Description

Victorian oak desk chair Here we have the magnificent desk chair that would have been made circa 1880. This chair is so comfortable to sit at and has the added bonus of looking great as well. Standing on finely turned front legs with its original china and brass castors, and the swept out back legs to the rear. The shaped back with deep buttoning in fine hand dyed and antiques hide leather, and with the open arms coming off the back that are supported by turned oak supports matching the front legs. Imagine sitting at your desk using this wonderful chair, your work surely will not be such a chore!!! 65cms widest width across arms (25 1/2ins) 89cms high (35ins) 54cms deep (21ins) 49cms width between arms (19ins) 44cms seat depth (17 1/2ins) 50cms seat height (19 1/2ins) All measurements are approximate PRICE MATCHING Antiques are quite unique as it is impossible to price match.
