Description

An excellent original early George 111 example of a San Domingo mahogany birdcage tilt top occasional table. Circa 1750s Larger and heavier than most, supported on a turned pillar pedestal with three splayed legs culminating on Queen Anne influenced pad feet. The three dovetailed legs are further supported by iron under plate further preventing leg splay. Original fittings, completely original with no sign of any repairs or abusive use. The dense quality of the first mahogany bought to Britain in the mid18th century from Honduras and San Domingo was and will remain the best ever found, a feature with this table, with black stain it could be mistaken for ebony, such is the tightness of the grains and weight of the timbers used to create this superb snaptop occasional birdcage tea table. Size 28" by 36"
