Description

A very good quality early to mid 19th Century Anglo Indian rosewood (East Indian Rosewood) carved table which can be used as a breakfast or centre table. This very attractive table has a round tilt top in solid rosewood with an intricately carved foliage edge and frieze. The top sits above a carved central turned pedestal adorned with acanthus leaves supported by a quadraform base terminating on four carved and turned bun feet and castors. English cabinet makers travelled to India in the second and third quarters of the nineteenth century and this table would have been constructed by one of these highly skilled craftsmen. In excellent condition this table has been restored using traditional methods having a lovely colour and with the fine quality grain of timber used making this a very decorative table for most homes. Height to underside of table 26 inches - 66cm. At Loveday Antiques we take the hard work out of buying antiques by assisting with quotes for a delivery service directly to your home. Normally quotes are upwards from £60 to mainland England and most parts of Wales but can be cheaper so please ask by providing a postcode. If you are outside of these areas in...
