Description

This is an antique side table dating to the reign of George II c.1750. In generous stock, this table is raised upon a tripod of cabriole legs resting upon pad feet supporting a stout, ring turned barrel column. The fixed plank top is well supported beneath further strengthened by quality butterfly joints offering a very robust and stable table. The top displays good grain detail with a desirable patina in a the honey hues of the deep waxed finish. The oak throughout displays well with a rich, warm glow. Solid joints and construction, delivered waxed polished and ready for the home.
