Description

An Impressive 19th C Anglo Indian Carved Revolving Occasional Table A highly decorative and finely carved mid 19th Century teak revolving occasional table / coffee table on a six legged base. Extremely well carved and in excellent condition this revolving occasional table has an intricately carved circular top of foliage, birds and animals with a fretted and shaped surrounding skirt. The top which revolves 360 degrees sits over an elaborately carved six legged base terminating with carved birds and dragons to each leg. The condition of this wonderful table is excellent having been wax restored retaining a good natural light colour and patina which is often not seen in Anglo Indian furniture as is normally darker.
