Description

A neat mahogany chest of drawers from the Edwardian period which is in good clean condition. The handles are original and the whole chest sits on a cabriole leg. This chest of four drawers is under half a metre wide so it would be perfect for a narrow space. It is an attractive chest which is clean inside as well as out. Unlike many of the narrow chests where the drawers are very shallow this one has drawers that you can at least use. It can fit into any room in the house or indeed could be used for files in an office perhaps. Not over expensive either.
