Description

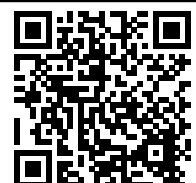

A rare set of 18th Century ornithological copper plate engravings by Georges-Louis Buffon, Comte de Buffon. Buffon dedicated much of his life to the study of natural history, this set of engravings are superbly drawn and hand coloured. They are printed on original handmade Whatman paper and are in excellent condition. The set have been expertly framed with an inner slip in a subtle gold, framing the image within the mount. The frames are very high quality and have been selected to work with a traditional or modern interior. This is an outstanding set of 18th Century engravings that would please collector, historian, ornithologist and interior decorator. c.1780
