Description

Dating from around 1900-1920 this set of three good quality and heavy brass wall lights are in the classic Empire style. Each weighs approximately 1.2kgs. They measure 28cm in width across the arms; the central column is 22cm in length and they all have a brass bar at the back for easy fitting to a wall. There are some fine details around the top of the lights, underneath, and around the lamp holders showing the quality of the manufacture. They have been rewired to UK specifications and only lightly hand polished. Postage and packing within the UK mainland only is included in the price and for outside areas or abroad, please contact us for a delivery quote.
