Description

These are an identical matching pair of 1930s English shell wall lights or sconces in the very rare colorway of daffodil yellow. These look just as impressive switched on or off and what a wonderful and imaginative way to light your room. Both are held in chrome frames and metal backplate which easily affix to the wall. The up-lighter effect gives a very ambient glow when lit. Both are fitted with standard bayonet fittings and are re-wired and ready to use. The shades are in excellent condition as are the chrome frames which are as bright and crisp as when first made.
