Description

A particularly good George III Period Ash hanging corner cupboard, the all round edge framing and the dentil moulding suggest Cheshire/North Wales as an origin and the use of Ash reinforces this. While the lower door panels have a single black line picking them out, the roundels of concentric circles on the upper panels is similar to a motif used on Windsor chairs of this era. The interior has two fixed shaped shelves and is painted pale green. Ca. 1790 H: 39.5", 101 cms, W: 35.5" 90 cms, D: 17.75", 45 cms. Lit: See "English Country Furniture 1500-1900" by David Knell published by The Antique Collectors Club. Illustration 242 pp 189.
