Description

18th century George III mahogany and upholstered parlour chair. Typical design of the period with serpentine styling to the top of the back and front of the seat. Square mahogany legs united by stretchers all round. The chair has been beautifully upholstered to a high standard in a beige coloured dylon type material. There are some old repairs to the mahogany but these don't detract from the chair which is perfectly solid and ready to use. SIZE; 23" across the front seat. 38" high overall CIRCA; 1770 - 1780
