Description

A very appealing 19th Century blue and white pearlware jug in willow pattern design with a floral and leaf border to the inner rim. Dating from the mid 19th Century, this good sized jug is in generally good condition, there are minor glaze chips to the rim and handle, and on the handle a small hairline crack to the glaze. This can be clearly seen in the photographs. A really decorative piece, perfect as part of a collection or to fill with flowers. c.1870
