Description

A most unusual and highly collectable desk or counter bell made from polished English brass, the base incorporating three handsome horse heads, the perfect example for the equestrian devotee. This style is my favourite kind with the more unusual clapper to the side rather than the ones you ring from the top. The hinged clapper is released and gives a clear and authoritative ring. A true Victorian example, the bell remains in superb condition, and working perfectly. The beautifully decorative cast base measures 5" in diameter and stands 7" tall to top of finial; a good impressive example.
