Description

This large mahogany pedestal table dates from around 1800, possibly an Irish one. It has those classical clean Georgian lines with the turned pedestal, splay feet which boast the original brass cups on the ends of the leg and original castors. A lovely clean table with a substantial solid top that displays a superb graining. This size tables are often sought but rarely found, it must be ten years since we had another period round dining table of 60 inches or so in stock, if not more. This elegant table will seat 8 people, the vast majority of these only seating 4 or 6 people. Very sensible price such a rare and sought after table, especially being in such good condition.
