Description

Lovely example of a Mahogany framed, button-back tub chair dating from the late 19th Century. It is a pretty shape with turned spindles and it sits on its original ceramic castors. The chair has been newly upholstered in a good quality, stylish fabric that compliments the chair. The chair is in good overall condition. It runs well on its castors and is a good sturdy chair. It has been re-webbed during upholstery to give a good firm seat. There are some general marks and small knocks around the legs and some small old splits but nothing detrimental. The best description comes from the photos so please look at them all carefully and if you have any questions please ask.
