Description

Good quality set of dining chairs dating from the late 19th Century, influenced in design by the Aesthetic Movement. They are made of Mahogany with a simple but stylish back carved with flower roundels and lines. They have turned and fluted tapering front legs with splayed rear legs. The chairs have recently been re-upholstered in a good quality stylish fabric in a light blue colour. The chairs are stamped on the underneath with a maker "Sopwith & Co. Newcastle on Tyne". They are in excellent condition with a rich patina. The seats are firm and comfortable and the joints are strong. There are a few minor knocks and light scuffs around the legs and some minor age-related marks here and there but nothing detrimental. In one chair there is a small split in the wood on the back (see photo). They have all been cleaned and lightly polished and they are a good sturdy set of chairs, ready for use. The best description comes from the photos so please look at them all carefully and if you have any questions please ask. We organise fortnightly deliveries to London and further afield.
