Description

This is truly a rare find, this light fitting from the early 1900s has superb castings, deep and crisp. The central frosted cut glass bowl is 49cms across and displays the light beautifully. The side shades are all in place and are also cut and frosted glass. This is a large light, suitable for a large room or perhaps to sit over your dining table. Sensibly priced at only £885 it will be difficult to repeat. The side shades have some small chips on the tops, these are unseen and have come about as the bronze fittings have been taken off and put back, almost certainly as bulbs have been changed. Other than that it is in excellent condition. All working as can be seen in the pictures it will impress in any location. THIS IS NOW RESERVED The stated width is the maximum from outer of the shade to opposite side on the diagonal.
