Description

This colourful ANTIQUE ENGLISH MAJOLICA CHEESE DOME, sometimes known as a CHEESE BELL or STILTON DISH, is decorated with birds and water lilies with an anthemion border. It probably comes from the Thomas Forester Factory in Longton, Staffordshire and dates from around 1880. The design and colours indicate this attribution. Their wares were rarely marked. The DOME is in good original condition. There is no restoration. There is a small glaze flake and an old, undeveloped chip to the base and some kiln fritting to the top caused during the firing process.
