Description

A gents 1940s Omega wrist watch. The watch has a 30T2 SC hand-winding movement which is working nicely. The movement is signed with the Omega name. There should be a serial number but this has been cut out... we have seen this before in various guises and it would appear to be someone who has taken a military piece for themselves, probably just after the War, and removed any identification marks so it cannot be identified. The watch itself measures 32.5mm diameter excluding the winding crown and the lugs. The case has a plated bezel, an alloy centre and a stainless steel case back, a combination often seen in the 1940s. Military details may also have been removed from the back of the watch as there is some evidence of filing as shown in the photos. The winding crown is a later replacement. The lens is in good condition. The signed dial has some marking but is still easy to read. Blued steel hands, centre seconds and a subsidiary seconds dial. A new leather strap has been fitted. The watch will be sent in a new presentation box. Free worldwide shipping
