Description

Victorian solid oak and brass mounted stick stand by James Shoolbred and Co. Having raised three quarter gallery above a paneled back with turned brass finials and stick/umbrella holder to the molded base supporting a tin drip pan. All raised up on brass bracket feet and bearing its registered design plague. In very good and original condition. 990mm high, 550mm wide and 250mm deep. Circa 1870. James Shoolbred & Co or also knows as Jas Shoolbred was established in the 1820's as a draper's shop, at Tottenham Court Road, London. The company first began supplying textiles to the furniture trade. By the 1860's, the company began designing, manufacturing and selling its own high quality furniture in their thriving and fashionable furniture shop. By the 1880's, Jas Shoolbred had expanded to such an extent that the business had to move to larger premises, becoming one of the first large department stores in London, who would supply quality antique furniture and accessories for the Victorian home. The furniture was displayed in a series of catalogues that the company produced every year with their new and impressive designs. Jas Shoolbred was granted a Royal warrant by the mid-18...
