A fine quality late 19th century green tortoiseshell and engraved brass inlaid mantel clock in the Louis XV style, retailed by Klaftenberger of London and made by J B Delettrez Paris.. The beautiful small sized case of waisted form, inlaid to all four sides and with the finely cast original gilt bronze mounts. The fully restored eight day movement by J B Delettrez, rack striking the hour and half hour on a bell with Brocot suspension. The decorative gilt dial with enamel cartouche roman numerals. Movement and case numbered. Height: 11 3/4" Width: 6 1/2" Depth: 4" Manufacture: French Date: Circa 1880 Charles Klaftenberger was trading from 1863 to 1881. Aubert & Klaftenberger traded in London from 1839 to 1857 and are recorded again in 1881. Alone or in partnership these two retailed some of the very finest French clocks. The initials JBD on the movement are a monogram of Jean Baptiste Delettrez who is recorded as living in Paris circa 1845 until circa 1885. Overall this is an impressive clock of small proportions decorated to all sides. The case is in fine original condition with the tortoiseshell and boulle work in perfect order.
