Description

This is a super example of a French antique side table, or gueridon, in the cross-over from Directoire to Empire styles of the early 19th century circa 1815. Choice cuts of mahogany displaying good colour and grain detail. Ovular in form with dish moulding to upper tier. Lower gallery offering generous display space. Wide frieze to both tiers in good proportion to one another and the whole. Ebonised Corinthian half-columns with brass capitals and bases. Raised on later stout four claw, hairy paw feet. A fine example of pared down neo-classicism. Solid joints and construction, delivered waxed, polished and ready for the home.
